10 LARRY GIRALDES,

11 Plaintiff,

No. CIV S-01-2110 LKK EFB P

12 vs.

13 T. PREBULA, et al.,

14 Defendants.

FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

15 _____/
16 Plaintiff is a state prisoner proceeding without counsel in an action brought under 42
17 U.S.C. § 1983. He has filed a motion for a preliminary injunction seeking to obtain certain 18 accommodations that he contends are medically necessary. Plaintiff claims that his medical 19 needs are not being met at his current institution and as a result, he is rapidly losing weight. He 20 requests an order directing that the California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation 21 (“CDCR”) honor the opinions of plaintiff’s medical specialists, who have recommended that 22 plaintiff have an elevated bed and small frequent meals. He also requests that he be placed in an 23 Outpatient Housing Unit where his medical needs can be accommodated. For the reasons stated, 24 the court recommends that plaintiff’s motion be denied.

25 A preliminary injunction will not issue unless necessary to prevent threatened injury that 26 would impair the court’s ability to grant effective relief in a pending action. Sierra On-Line, Inc.

1 v. Phoenix Software, Inc., 739 F.2d 1415, 1422 (9th Cir. 1984); Gon v. First State Ins. Co., 871
 2 F.2d 863 (9th Cir. 1989). A preliminary injunction represents the exercise of a far reaching 3 power not to be indulged except in a case clearly warranting it. Dymo Indus. v. Tapeprinter, 4 Inc., 326 F.2d 141, 143 (9th Cir. 1964). The Ninth Circuit recently modified its standard for 5 preliminary injunctive relief to conform to the Supreme Court's admonition in Winter v. Natural 6 Res. Def. Council, Inc., ___ U.S. ___, 129 S.Ct. 365, 375-76 (2008), that the moving party must 7 demonstrate that--absent an injunction--irreparable injury is not only possible, but likely.¹
 8 Stormans, Inc. v. Selecky, Nos. 07-36039, 07-36040, 2009 WL 1941550 at *13 (9th Cir. July 8, 9 2009). Under the new standard, "preliminary injunctive relief requires a party to demonstrate 10 'that he is likely to succeed on the merits, that he is likely to suffer irreparable harm in the 11 absence of preliminary relief, that the balance of equities tips in his favor, and that an injunction 12 is in the public interest.'" Stormans, Inc., at 13, quoting Winter v. Natural Res. Def. Council, 13 Inc., ___ U.S. at ___, 129 S.Ct. at 375-76. In cases brought by prisoners involving conditions of 14 confinement, any preliminary injunction "must be narrowly drawn, extend no further than 15 necessary to correct the harm the court finds requires preliminary relief, and be the least intrusive 16 means necessary to correct the harm." 18 U.S.C. § 3626(a)(2).

17 Plaintiff fails to show he is entitled to injunctive relief. As a threshold matter he seeks to 18 enjoin persons who are not defendants in this action. In his motion, he faults CDCR for not 19 meeting his medical needs at his current institution, which is Salinas Valley State Prison.
 20 However, this lawsuit proceeds on plaintiff's claims that defendants at California Medical 21 Facility were deliberately indifferent to plaintiff's medical needs in September 2001, when they 22 recommended that plaintiff be transferred to High Desert State Prison. As defendants point out

24 ¹ Under the previous standard a preliminary injunction could be granted "if the plaintiff 25 'demonstrates either a combination of probable success on the merits and the possibility of 26 irreparable injury or that serious questions are raised and the balance of hardships tips sharply in his favor.'" Earth Island Inst. v. U.S. Forest Serv., 351 F.3d 1291, 1298 (9th Cir.2003) (internal quotation marks and citations omitted) (reversing the denial of a preliminary injunction where the district court had found that the mere possibility of such harm was speculative).

1 in their opposition brief, they have had no responsibility for or authority over plaintiff's physical 2 condition and care since his transfer from California Medical Facility in 2001. Dckt. No. 131 at 3 3. Defendants simply do not have the authority to initiate changes in plaintiff's current medical 4 treatment. Id. Thus, defendants could not provide plaintiff with the relief he seeks.

5 While plaintiff asks the court to direct CDCR to accommodate his medical needs, CDCR
6 is not a party to this lawsuit. The court cannot issue an order against individuals or institutions
7 who are not parties to a suit pending before it. See Zenith Radio Corp. v. Hazeltine Research,
8 Inc., 395 U.S. 100, 112 (1969). See also Zepeda v. United States Immigration Service, 753 F.2d
9 719, 727 (9th Cir. 1985) ("A federal court may issue an injunction if it has personal jurisdiction
10 over the parties and subject matter jurisdiction over the claim; it may not attempt to determine 11 the rights of persons not before the court.").

12 Accordingly, it is hereby RECOMMENDED that plaintiff's January 4, 2010, motion for 13 a preliminary injunction be denied.

14 These findings and recommendations are submitted to the United States District Judge 15 assigned to the case, pursuant to the provisions of 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1). Within 14 days after 16 being served with these findings and recommendations, any party may file written objections 17 with the court and serve a copy on all parties. Such a document should be captioned "Objections 18 to Magistrate Judge's Findings and Recommendations." Failure to file objections within the 19 specified time may waive the right to appeal the District Court's order. Turner v. Duncan, 158 20 F.3d 449, 455 (9th Cir. 1998); Martinez v. Ylst, 951 F.2d 1153 (9th Cir. 1991).

21 Dated: January 19, 2010.
